

moreMARIN.com

- Home
- Features
- Culture
- Eats
- Restaurants
- Sweat
- Photo Albums
- Marin Calendar
- Advertise
- About Us

Buzz Home

Web MoreMarin

MoreMarin: How Random Is That?

Wikipedia

SF-88 is a former Nike Missile site in the Headlands that operated from 1954 until 1974. The missiles were intended to protect against Soviet bombers. At least some of them were equipped with nuclear missiles.

Check back each day for a new random fact about Marin

MoreMarin is now Blogging on the new

SFGate

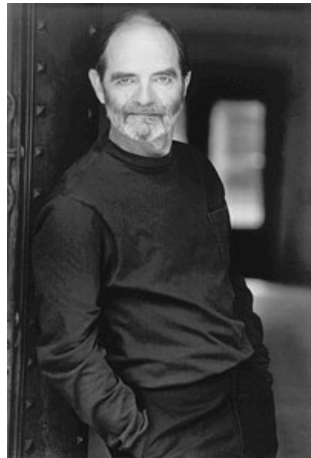

Check out the posts by MoreMarin's Pam Gould

« AIDS quilt returns to Marin | Main | Video of the Day - A Day in the Life »

Monday, November 30, 2009

Marin Focus: Actor (& storyteller) Phil Sheridan

By Joan Lisetor-

He falls to the ground, victim of a heart attack. The medics arrive.

"Good God, get him to a hospital, quick..."

There are helicopters overhead, sirens, flashing lights, breaking glass.

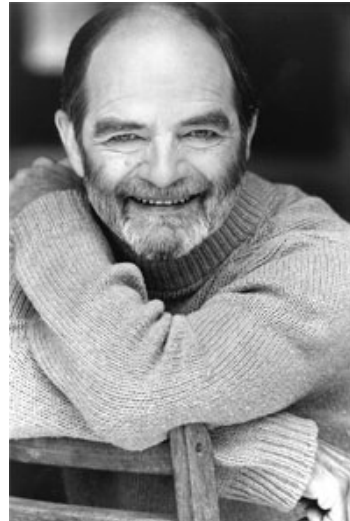

It's all in a day's work for actor Phil Sheridan. The 74-year-old began acting in college and has been at it ever since. Being practical, he got a degree in library science from U.C., Berkeley, in the mid 1960s.

"The ink was still wet on my degree, and I high tailed it over to the Marin Civic Center library and asked for a job," he said. "They asked if I could start the next day."

That was the beginning of a career that has taken the Southern California transplant to San Quentin as a librarian. Then there was the book store he owned in Ross and the years he worked as a diamond broker.

While he still works as a fill in reference librarian for the county, nothing has suited him nor pleased him more than his current life's work: telling stories to children. He tells stories two mornings a week at the library in Mill Valley, his home town for more than 40 years, once a week at the Sausalito library and the Hunter's Point YMCA and at children's birthday parties. His dream is to tell stories to children on television.

"The next Mr. Rogers," he says shrugging. "Although there is nothing like a real live person telling stories, acting out the parts. I love to roar and bellow. A little boy the other day asked me, 'Are you really crying?'"

Join your neighbors getting our MoreMarin Daily Feed because we all want to stay informed. Best of all, it's FREE!!!!

Get Our Daily Feed

Email:

Privacy by SafeSubscribeSM

REALTORS

Rita Richcreek
Tel (415) 459-1550
ext. 117

EDIBLE ATTRACTIVE TERRAINS

organic gardens:
consult, design, install,
maintain
415.342.5857

The Mill Valley Hat Box
Fine Couture Millinery
118 Throckmorton Ave
Mill Valley
415 383-2757

Wildlife
awareness, rescue
and rehabilitation
Nature education
and tours

Follow us on

RECENT COMMENTS

Marshall on Musings by Dr. Michelle Gannon - Release your stress...20 tips

Sandy on Marin Focus: Actor (& storyteller) Phil Sheridan

Joel Bartlett on Hit It and Quit It! - Vegas in West Marin

Jonathan on Shark attack victim to appear at booksigning in Greenbrae

AndrewTF on Hit It and Quit It! - Vegas in West Marin

Dear Uncle Bob on Hit It and Quit It! - Stop Talking and Hike Already

Margaret Kathrein on Shark attack victim to appear at booksigning in Greenbrae

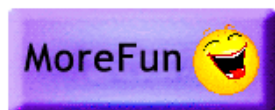

Jonathan on Shark attack victim to appear at booksigning in Greenbrae

Danny Skarka on Hit It and Quit It! - Stop Talking and Hike Already

susan on Shark sighting closes Stinson Beach!

Got some scoop? Want to talk to us?

The actor/storyteller is the voice of Grandpa on the very popular video game, Sim City. And, he is the real life grandpa of two and the father of four. He met his wife, Linda, in 1969 in an acting class at U.C. Berkeley.

The above mentioned heart attack scene will take place Monday, Nov. 30, at 9 p.m. on the NBC series Trauma. The episode is called "The Blue Balloon."

"Don't worry if you miss it," he said, "it will replay on <http://www.nbc.com/trauma/> and you can fast forward to my scene." And, he will post it to his website www.philsheridan.com.

Sheridan appeared in many episodes of the late series, "Nash Bridges." He recalled fondly working with actor Cheech Marin. Working on Trauma, he said, reminded him of the fun.

"You do a shoot; you break for lunch; you do another shoot, and you break for dinner, and all that money."

But, there is nothing like seeing a little girl holding her hands to her mouth and gasping in surprise while you are reading to her, Sheridan said.

Joan is the president of Lisetor Communications and a producer for Life Stories DVD, a video production company. Previously, Joan was a reporter for the Marin IJ, a columnist for The News Marin and Assistant to the President for Public Information at College of Marin. She received her BA in Journalism at San Francisco State University.

Joan's longtime commitment to the community ranges from organizations such as the Marin County Board of Education to the Marin

Shakespeare Festival. She currently serves as an adviser to the San Quentin News and is on the board of directors of Marin Shakespeare Company, Bridge Rail Foundation and the Golden Gate Tall Ship. Joan has one son, Scott, a lighting director who lives in Honolulu.

Posted by Pam Gould at 11:19 AM in Marin Focus, MoreMarin Feature! | Permalink ShareThis

Comments

Congrats Phil 'Rogers'

Posted by: Sandy | Monday, December 07, 2009 at 10:43 AM

Post a comment

Marin House Cleaning

Green Business Certified

(415) 342-0641

Support, programs, outings for Seniors with memory loss

70 Skyview Terrace San Rafael (415) 491-2500

Sproos Hair Salon 552 San Anselmo Ave San Anselmo 415-457-4900

The MYC Marin Youth Center Programs, classes, events For Marin youth

MoreMarin Coverage

FLU.GOV Know what to do about the flu. VISIT FLU.GOV SHARE THIS WIDGET

California Department of Public Health

Marin County Health & Human Services